The latest fistic news and just to hand to receive a place in this issue is that the Legion promoters have matched Mel Cowie and Frank Jackson for the feature event of their next boxing card. Cowie is the present lightweight champion, and has been for some time, and this is a challenge of his supremacy. Jackson won his battle here last week, and will be a real contender. These boys are now known locally to be good, and this match is perhaps the best available in Alberta. Preliminaries in keeping with the main bout will be arranged, and the card can be anticipated as the best yet.

Some time ago these columns conveyed the information that Vulcan and district was included in an area selected for the first endeavor in the organization of what is designated as a Health Unit. The unit, to meet the standard required by the Rockefeller Foundation, which organization financially backs the proposition, would consist of a medical health officer, one or more public health nurses, a sanitary inspector, and the necessary clerical staff. The duties of this unit would be: Control of infectious diseases, examination of school children, baby clinic, child welfare work generally, public health education, supervision of milk and water supplies, and the general condition of the district. Briefly this is a description of the matter which is being brought to the attention of the people at this point at the present. It should have every consideration.

year, and is equipped with the modern devices for speed and efficiency

One of those who come annually to were more opportune. George carries no signs of worry and has no tales of woe to tell.

Vulcan received front page publicity on Friday last by the appearance in The Lethbridge Herald of an interesting threshing picture, featuring an Old Country miner-harvester at labor in a Vulcan district field. Several of these men have been at work in this community, some in the fields and some in the mines, and so far as has been ascertained, this district will make no contribution to that circumstance of dissatisfaction which appears to have obtained to a degree in places elsewhere. The picture mentioned is printed in this issue through the courtesy of our southern city contemporary.

Dr. Carson and Dr. Burke are now located in their respective suites in the new Carson block, which has heretofore had description in these columns. Besides the appointments of the building, which are exceptional, the electrical and other equipment gives to these medical men facilities that are unequalled in any town the size of Vulcan in the province, and indeed there are but few plants as complete even in the biggest of our cities. Inspection of the premises has been made by many visitors, who will add the excellence of this institution to their broadcast of the features of this famed town.

The Boxing card presented at the arena on Saturday night was perhaps the best all-round bill ever held here under Canadian Legion auspices, but the patronage was not up to the merit of the attraction. The card started with a bout between Master Collier and Master Pleasants, and the latter was awarded the decision. The Meyers brothers from Blackie, little fellows and twins, attired in real ring regalia, put on an artistic as well as strenuous go that was a great surprise and a big hit. These lads can come again any time. Billy Trevenon and a young man named Kubic from Diamond boxed a few exhibition rounds that were fast and interesting. Frank Bender of Drum-heller, and Young Daines, of Winnipeg, were the contenders in the seniawindup, and they battled without hesitancy the full measure of the six rounds, Bender winning by the advantage he had in length and weight.
Both of these boys made friends with the fans, and can again get a place on a Vulcan card. Principals in the main bout were Louis Kwiczak, of Drumheller, and Frank Jackson, of Winnipeg. Kwiczak maintained his reputation as an aggressive and willing scrapper, and dangerous to the last long. Jackson came to Vulcan with modesty, and his performance demonstrated an ability which he had not claimed. The bout was real action every minute, with the edge always with Jackson, but not sufficiently so to stop his opponent, who finished strong though beaten. Details of the several events are omitted, but special mention we make of the general excellence of the entire affair.
The only disappointing feature is the fact that the Legion did not make the money that they should, owing to a little less patronage than is usual.
Surely Messrs. Munro and McInnes have established a reputation as promoters of boxing shows of merit, and their future offerings will have a better result for the Legion. It is understood that Vulcan can now for a time at least be given as the address of Frank Jackson, and with this clever boy at home with us will give impetus to the game and improve promotion.

THE THINGS THEY SAY

The silly things we said and did during the war have been repeated to us by George Bernard Shaw. Next to the statement that it was "a war to end war" ranks in foolishness the exhortation to "produce," ending with the subtly stupid observation that he who produced an extra bushel of wheat or oats or potatoes was doing as much for victory as the soldier slogging in trench mud. The exhortation was so unnecessary, because war prices were doing the trick without the aid of mischievous rhetoric, mischievous because, if true, it gave the physically fit an excellent argument for exemption at a time when decimated regiments had to be filled up, and the voluntary principle had spent its virtue. The government bought our wheat at that time and paid over two dollars a bushel for it, and farmers all over Canada resented it because they believed that if the price hadn't been fixed, they would have got far more. As a fact, if the government had not bought for export no one else would. No combination of grain dealers could have done it, because the ultimate purchasers had nothing to offer for the wheat but paper. The federal government therefore sold Victory Bonds and, with the money thus raised, bought wheat, and sold it to Britain, France, Italy and Belgium on credit. And all the government of the day got out of it, politically, was abuse. Our farmers know better now, but farmers in the middle and western states are still "again" Hoover, because while he was Food Controller, he did the same thing as the Canadian government did.

NAMES ON MAIL BOXES

The farmer's name on a mail box serves a good purpose, providing the person driving along the road is not driving too fast, otherwise not many names are printed large enough to read. From an advertising standpoint a name printed large on a barn is preferable. We might easily take a leaf out of the book of the Michigan farmers in this respect. One can drive for miles and miles and see every barn painted, invariably red with the owner's name in white letters, nearly two feet long. It may be that the name of the farm is also painted and if some particular breed of horses, cattle or sheep are specialized in, is mentioned likewise. The merchant in town has his name on his window to advertise his place of business; why shouldn't the farmer advertise his place of business also.

The meek man who used to button his wife up the back is now learning to give her a haircut.

In Japan you can tell if a girl is married by her hair. In this country you can't even tell if it is a girl.

Old Dobbin never wrapped himself round a telegraph pole when the driver tried to kiss somebody.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Mrs. Virginia Van de Water, writing in the Woman's Journal, New York, is not so sure that the good old days were so good. She claims that this age with all its faults, is an era of intellectual honesty. We say what we think and even though we do not always think right, there is some virtue in not being hypocritical. Half a century ago people lived too much in the dark, both actually and metaphorically. "Consider how sunlight was excluded. The small child's face was shaded lest a ray of light touch the tender eyes. As to other kinds of darkness, if one does not remember forty years ago, one has no idea of the so-called 'period of mourning.' In a home where death had entered, every window blind was lowered for weeks. The mourners went swathed in crepe. A widow was secluded for months, often two years. In the presence of the great liberator, Death people behaved more like pagans than the Christians they claimed to be. As for the wail over the lack of spirituality at present, there may be less creed, but I doubt if ever there was an era, when people generally lived religion more than they do now in helping the unfortunate and oppressed. It is no small thing to be written down as one who loves his fellowman.

ONE MORE FIASCO

If the trouble caused by miners who were brought from the British Isles to work as harvesters in Canada will put a stop to such schemes for the future, it will be a blessing in disguise. Of course, a few men can kick up a frightful row particularly when they can speak through Socialist and Communist members of the Imperial parliament who thrive on agitation and industrial discontent. Several such members are out here now on a junketing tour and the complaints of a few hundred out of a few thousand miner-harvesters furnished "meat" for them. Even a Canadian Labor member, Rev. Mr. Woodsworth of Winnipeg, was able to get in the lime-light by corroborating the story that the "harvesters" who were being returned to Britain were "caged" as if they were prisoners. An Ottawa despatch says that the leader of this gang is a Glasgow man with a criminal record.

A PRIZE ESSAY

W. C. Durant, the motor magnate, believes in the Volstead Act and is offering a prize of $25,000 for the best essay upon its enforcement. After ten years trial, this offer is a sufficient condemnation of the Act itself, and the prize ought to go to an essay of three words: "Change the Act." Thousands of people are killed or maimed every year through reckless driving of motor cars. One remedy for this is the prohibition of motor cars, (according to the topic of the prohibitionist), but that would not work because a lot of people like Mr. Durant want motor cars and others really need them. An act to prohibit the use of motor cars would, however, be more easily enforced than the Volstead Act.

"Do you think that autos are ruining the younger generation?" "No, I think the younger generation is ruining the autos."

A local woman who bought a bird dog from a Calgary dealer, sent it back because it hadn't sung a note since the day she got him.

THE SOCIAL LIFE

If a lady is desirous of gaining the complete undivided attention of a gentleman for a short space of time, she has merely to introduce the 'enthralling subject of his weight. If he be of the buxom type, she might speculate on his tonnage, taking off forty pounds or so, from what she really thinks. If he be a fragile bird she might add on a bit to establish the cordial entente. Giving him the direct but kindly eye, she might say: "I should judge that you weigh about 150 pounds. Does your weight vary much?" The flood gates of reminiscence will be loosed upon her and he will reveal to her great delectation just what he weighed in '06 back in the lumber camps, and at what point he has tipped the scales in every succeeding year. Every man is voluble, interested, accurate on this subject. And although he may leave the party of the second part swamped in a table of weights and measures, yet doth she acquire virtue. She knows that beyond peradventure, he will always speak of her as "a mighty interesting little woman."

A RAGGED DOOR MAT

"Welcome to Our Town!" What does the road sign mean? Does it mean that we are anxious to get the visitor's money and to give him as little in return as we can get away with? A welcome sign means more to the passing tourist if it is accompanied by evidence of some consideration for his comfort and well-being, such as a good roadway to enter and leave the town on. The entrance to a town is something like an entrance to a house—a ragged door-mat doesn't look well.—St. Mary's Journal-Argus.

A distinguished biologist has discovered that there are 4500 species of ants. He must have been at a church picnic.

In case the next war finds U.S. unprepared, it is a comfort to know that they can call on their gun men for arms and ammunition.

Sixty Years Among the Farmers

MANY years ago it was decided that the fortunes of The Canadian Bank of Commerce would be largely dependent on the growth and development of agriculture.

For that reason it has always been the policy of this Bank to follow the farmer East and West,—to give him adequate banking service,—to support him to the fullest possible extent.

TOOK GOOD STAND

In defence of "New Canadians," it has long been felt by fair minded people that there have been entirely too many derogatory and unwarranted letters and statements issued in some parts of the country, about these people who though non-British by birth, nevertheless make fine citizens. At the recent convention of Canadian Clubs held in Calgary, the matter was discussed, and unanimously the following resolution, moved by E. J. Tarr of Winnipeg, was passed: "Be it resolved that this conference of Canadian Clubs expresses its strong disapproval of all such discursive references to Canadian citizens, and the hope that our fellow-Canadians of non-British origin will realize that Canadian opinion from the Atlantic to the Pacific is to a preponderating degree opposed to the sentiment of such utterances."

FARMING BY MOTOR

Old Methods Giving Place to New.
Every Phase of Agriculture Carried on

Repeated visits to the home of Mr. W.H. Fletcher of Brant, serve always to increase interest in the huge motorized farming operations conducted there. This year with the purchase of his second combine and swather, to speed the season's work, "Dad" Fletcher has definitely placed the stamp of his approval on this new revolutionizing farm machinery. When he purchased his first Holt combine in 1926, he insisted that the Company would find that their swather would be their leading card in Alberta. This has proved to be the case. The combine does not work in this country as in the Western States and the swather must be used. Mr. Fletcher can marshal a stupendous array of arguments in favor of the swather. By cutting grain on the green side with this machine, much waste is avoided. The grain ripens in the swath and maintains a high grade. In the case of the inevitable weeds, in almost every field, these weeds can ripen in swath and the seeds are blown away, while if stacked, they are retained with the grain. If grain stands till ripe and ready to be cut by binder, there is much risk of its being storm caught and lodged, making very expensive cutting—instead of cutting 65 acres a day, 12 acres would be the program. When grain is in swath, it can be picked up much more readily for the final threshing operation. Sixty acres a day is the rule for cutting.

Mr. Fletcher uses this machinery for his entire 2000 acres of crop, and states that he can put the wheat from a 50 acre field into the wagon box for less than 2 cents a bushel. This in itself would seem to justify his faith.

While naturally enough, the main interest at this time of year centres round the grain fields, yet every department of diversified farming is represented on a very high scale on this huge farm.

Last year (1927) Mr. Fletcher had 175 acres in garden produce. Figuring that it did not pay sufficiently, this year he cut the area to 75 acres of every kind of vegetables. To one firm alone, he has already shipped over $1300 of garden stuff. His markets are Calgary and Winnipeg. The strawberry patch, 44 feet by 52 feet, has given 350 quarts of berries.

In the poultry yard, 1000 White Leghorns give every promise of repeating last year's standard and bringing in from $5 to $7.50 a day for winter eggs.

Swine, too, in numbers, are another paying proposition, over $1000 worth of pigs having been sold this fall, with sixty or seventy still on hand.

It is little wonder that every holiday sees Mr. Fletcher's beautiful and buzzing farm, swarming with visitors. From the vine covered, flower surrounded, dwelling houses, through the gardens, to the barns, and chicken runs and on to the grain fields every view presents a scene of beauty or prosperity. And dominating all, is the kindly, forceful presence of "Dad" Fletcher himself.

MAY CLOSE AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS

We have learned unofficially that the Minister of Agriculture is proposing to close both the Claresholm and Raymond schools of agriculture and a new one at Lethbridge. M.L.A.s in the south have been quietly lobbied in to the idea, and one member went so far as to state that it was going to be done. One can see at a glance that there would be strong interests to support such an idea, since Lethbridge itself is the largest centre in the south, but with the development that has been attained, at Claresholm particularly, we fail to see where they hope to better conditions. Neither Gordon Walker, M.L.A. nor Principal Gandier have been taken in to confidence of the department on the scheme, but, of course, both have learned of the proposition, since it is quite generally spoken of in the south. The idea has to be sold to the government as a whole, and it is time for Claresholm to awaken to the fact, and for the people to set about to counteract this influence.

It would be fully as logical for Calgary to set about to pull the Olds school to that centre. To break down the development of the Claresholm school would be little short of a crime. We refrain from saying too much till some public pronouncement is forthcoming; but, be on your guard.—Claresholm Local Press.

TRUCK DRIVERS BEWARE

The unfortunate tragedy on Monday evening when a Ford truck driven by someone unknown, side-swiped Mr. Turnbull's car and killed a young harvester riding in the car, calls for immediate attention. During the past few weeks many near by accidents have occurred in the vicinity of Blackie and invariably the offenders were truck drivers. Incidents are coming to light where certain truck drivers show an utter disregard for human life, and only the prompt action of drivers of auto's in ditching their machines avoided serious results. Complaint is made here that these high speed trucks travel at very high speed, lights are not dimmed and they automatically take up centre of the road and have no consideration for the average motorist. In this connection it is the duty of every motorist to report infractions of this sort to the police. An object lesson is necessary and from the temper displayed by the people hereabouts, several offenders will pay dearly unless they use common decency while driving upon our highways.

A good many husbands are just getting back from their wives' vacations.

Mrs. Martin took this opportunity to thank the different branches throughout the constituency for their hearty co-operation and ready response to any suggested changes making her year's work a pleasure instead of a task.

Canadianization report was presented by Mrs. Pearson who moved, and Mrs. Meyers seconded that this report be adopted.—Carried.

REPLY TO MINERS

In answering criticisms made by miner-harvesters returning from Canada to Britain last week, J. Bruce Walker, director of European immigration replied that the important fact was that so far only 700 of the unemployed sent out from England have showed desire to return. "That," Mr. Walker declared, "is much better than we expected. Those who have observed the movement knew that, except for physical qualities, the men were selected haphazard, and we expected the return of at last two thousand. Whatever the men who have returned have to say, nearly 8000 still are employed in the harvest fields. Assuming that 1,500 return before winter, there would be still about six thousand British unemployed absorbed in the industrial and agricultural life of Canada. Surely that is a consideration of some importance. I have received information from Canada," Mr. Walker said, "that only the other day a survey made of 320 central harvesting points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta showed that the average wage was $4 a day and that there was still an unsatisfied demand for harvest labor. That is one answer to the complaints of returned men and one they will find difficult to explain."

SHOOTING REGULATIONS

The season for ducks and geese closes Dec. 14th.
The Hungarian partridge, which goes by the family name of Phasianidae, may not be hunted until October 1st, and the season closes November 30th.
It is not lawful to hunt grouse and prairie chicken at any time of the year.

LEARNING AT FIFTY

What is man's most teachable age? The Survey Graphic seeks to answer this question by tabulating results from night classes where students ranged from 14 years to 30 and over. The results of ability to learn showed the following ratio:

59 per cent. for 14 to 16 years.
85 per cent. for 17 to 19 years.
100 per cent. for 20 to 24 years.
89 per cent. for 25 to 29 years.
87 for 30 years and over.

In general the testimony of investigation showed that almost anything is learnable up to 50 years of age, that in general age has little effect on the power of intellectual acquisition. This would seem to show that adults learn less than they might, partly because they underestimate their own power, and partly because they do not care sufficiently. In records kept of school prisons in which reading, spelling, etc., were taught, and the results compared with the time required to teach children a similar amount, there seemed proof that adults learned much more quickly than children. All conclusions after careful research indicate that the general laws of ability to learn are substantially the same from 15 to 50. Disuse, however, always decreases the ability to learn.

TO THE ELAPPERS

Blessings on thee, little dame,
Bareback girl with knees the same.
With thy rolled-down silken hose
And thy short, transparent clothes;
With thy red lips, reddened more,
Smeared with lipstick from the store
With thy make-up on thy face,
And thy bobbed hair's jaunty grace,
From my heart I give thee joy,
Glad that I was born a boy.

OUR MOTOR BRAINS

We people of the modern age are said to be possessors of "motor brains." That is, we are developing a keen sense of mechanisms and of speed, and are paying the penalty in a lack of richer qualities—a sense of beauty and certain deep habits of philosophic contemplation. We travel vast distances, see great sights and our records are primarily the condition of the roads, the mileage made, possibly the merits of certain auto camps—and eventually the fine scenery. We remember vaguely that at some point there was an exceptional stand of grain, at another great herds of Holsteins, and here and there brisk little towns. But where were all these things? We are not sure, though we remember unerringly the bad spots on the roads.

In these days of perilous travel it takes all eyes, back and front seat to watch the traffic. Even the baby cranes his neck in anticipation of disaster. For older folks this is all very well. Presumably they know what they want in the way of enjoyment and are taking it. But how about the children? Do the memories of their frequent five-hundred mile whirls, leave as lasting an impression as the rare old nine-mile drive to the city, that we elders, as children, considered wonderful so many years ago? Remember the occasional times when father packed us all into the buggy, and took us to town with him. He gave us our choice of roads, the good road, the hilly road or the road by the mill. And never did we choose the good. But as we jogged along, every step of the way was alive with interest. If we met anyone, it was the rule of the road to stop for a chat. Friend or stranger, to pass coldly by would be unthinkable. The horses always stopped anyway, leaving no choice.

One by one we checked the high spots as we journeyed—The first big hill, the white's home, the church in the woods, the cedar swamp, the sinister-eyed haunted house, the mill ponds, the overhead bridges, the old mill. Then the last big hill, with the smoky city stretching far below and the long descent to the wild life of civilization.

Coming home too, father always chose different streets through which to travel—niggers alley, the factory quarter, or the streets of beautiful homes. Always a different way and always father saying solemnly "Supposing we are lost!" And the long sleepy homeward drive at dusk with tall cornfields standing sentinel-like on either side of the road. Then the creepy strip by the cedar swamp with fireflies darting weirdly to and fro. Father always arranged that we should pass the cedar swamp after nightfall. It was so thrilling.

These childish memories of the long leisurely roads of many years ago, are as alive to the middle-aged as if they had been travelled yesterday.

What will our own children cherish and remember of the road from Vulcan to Calgary, or Vulcan to Macleod? The chance is that their most vivid recollections will be of the bumpy places and the hair breadth escapes. But let us hope that whatever else escapes them, all their lives will be tinged with memories of the vast panorama of foothills to the West.

RESEARCH WORK

In connection with the encouragement of industrial research in Canada, it has been shown that the Council for Research, by one research alone has made it possible for the lobster industry to save more annually than the Council has expended in all its researches during its ten years existence. Already agriculture, forestry, mining, fisheries and manufacturing have received untold benefits from research. Progress, has been made in the control of wheat rust. A solution of the problem of drying damp and tough wheat has been reached. Important work has been carried on in connection with re-seeding and planting burned out forest areas. Another important problem in fisheries, besides the lobster investigation, has been the reduction of losses in shipping fresh fish from the Atlantic to Central Canada. Much also has been accomplished in development of mining resources and by products. The Council of Research has been encouraged by the promise of greater support from the government.

WHY THEY MOVE HERE

At a recent Inter State Commission being held in the State of Washington, for the urging of lower export grain rates, Carl Lavey, State Secretary of the Farm Bureau, stated that he had given farmers by Canadian railways and government was attracting growers from Washington to Canada. "With cheap lands, low taxes, low grain rates and fertilizer, Alberta farmers can not only raise grain at a cost several dollars an acre less than those of Washington," he stated, "but they can reach their eastern and western markets at lower cost." He reckoned that the average cost to the Canadian farmer until the grain was placed with the elevators was $14.70 an acre, as against $20.58 across the border. This recalls the fact that when the U.S. Tariff Commission sat in 1924, they showed that on an eleven year average the production cost of a bushel of wheat in the U.S. was $1.50 as against $1.22 in Canada.

HYDRO EXPANSION

Alberta is now investigating thoroughly the costs of electrifying farm homes. Model farms have been equipped and are being observed by a research council of University of Alberta, Calgary Power Company and leading women's organizations. Two farm homes have been equipped with electric stoves, refrigerators, water supply pumps, feed choppers, vacuum cleaners and other devices. They will be under observation for a year. One farm is in the north where dairying prevails, the other in the wheat country. If the reports are favorable, Alberta will likely follow closely in the lead of Ontario, where through the agency of the Provincial Hydro Commission, 32,000 rural homes are equipped. Indoors electricity does the work of lighting, cooking, heating, washing, ironing, toasting, vacuum cleaning, refrigeration, pumping water, and charging radio batteries. Outside, hydro is used for grinding, milking, separating, milk cooling, washing milk bottles, pumping water, cutting the fodder, cleaning grain, running emery wheels, charging car batteries and filling motor tires. Provision of electricity for all these purposes is made on satisfactory terms to the farmer.

NOTICE TO ALBERTA FARMERS AND STOCK OWNERS

Assistance is again to be given, to Alberta exhibitors to compete at the Toronto Royal Show to be held November 21 to 29, 1928. The Dominion Department of Agriculture have agreed to pay 75 per cent. of the freight and the Alberta Department of Agriculture 25 per cent. The Provincial Department will also pay exhibitors a sum of $25.00 per head as feed allowance for horses and cattle and $10.00 per head for sheep, selected by the representative of the Alberta Livestock Board with a maximum of $250.00 to any one exhibitor. Persons having animals of outstanding merit of the stock mentioned and desirous of exhibiting are asked to communicate as soon as possible with a member of the selection committee. Committee—J. W. Durno, Alberta Stock Yards, Calgary; S. G. Carlyle, Livestock Commissioner, Dept. of Agriculture, Edmonton; J. C. Yule, Carstairs; Professor Sackville, University of Alberta.

MILK CONSUMPTION

In a recent test for the value of milk as nutrition for children, the following system was carried out: One group of children was given whole milk, another separated milk, a third received a biscuit calculated to have the same energy-producing value as the amount of separated milk. The fourth group received no supplementary feeding. These children all came from ordinary homes and the milk test was additional to regular diet. The result showed that the increase in height of the first two groups (with milk diet) proved the value of the milk. The added biscuit failed of any result. And more striking still there was practically no difference in development in the first group which was given whole milk, and the second which had separated milk. The conclusions showed: 1.—The addition of milk to the diet of children produces an increase in weight and height 20% greater than those who receive no milk. 2.—The increase in growth produces improvement in general condition, clearer skins, more erect bodies, etc. 3.—Separated milk has proved to be of very great value—practically equal to whole milk.

ALBERTA WOOL MILLS

The sheep industry has been making great strides in Alberta, and the province itself is a large consumer of woollen products. The provincial government is sponsoring the effort whose aim is to lay the foundation for a textile industry which will provide materials for secondary industries such as garment factories, knit goods factories, etc.

Definite decision has now been reached by the Western Canada Woolen Mills, to establish a plant at Edmonton. This will have an annual capacity of 1,500,000 pounds of wool, with a cloth equivalent of anywhere up to 1,000,000 yards. It is scheduled to include a wide range of fabrics such as blankets, tweeds, velours, flannels, mackinaw cloth, friezes and yarns. It is estimated that 100 people would be employed. At the same time the establishment of a co-operative woollen industry at Lethbridge is being considered. This as planned, would employ 120 people with an annual payroll of $150,000 a year and use 1,500,000 pounds of wool annually.

WESTERN CROPS

The estimate of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics just issued, places the yield for the prairie provinces at 527,332,000 bushels, while the Manitoba Free Press estimates 534,621,000. Frost damage has been heavy in many localities, with a lowering of grades. In Alberta, frost damage has been fairly extensive and severe. In the north-eastern area, heavy frosts and rain have been reported. The yield will be about 25 bushels to the acre, but with grades possibly lower than average. The south-eastern area reports yields of from 25 to 40 bushels to the acre and grading No. 1 and 2 in most cases. Frost damage in the south has been irregular.

In Saskatchewan, the southern portion reports better than average yield, some grading however, running No. 3 and lower.

British Columbia reports lack of moisture which have injured the root crop somewhat. The apple estimate of 115 per cent. of average is maintained and this fruit is sizing and coloring nicely. The packing of McIntosh Reds is general.

NINTH CROP REPORT

Telegraphic reports received by the Department of Agriculture show harvesting operations proceeding satisfactorily over the whole of the province. A general rain on September 7 accompanied by light snow in some districts, delayed work for two or three days. Other than this, weather conditions have been ideal. The cutting of wheat is well advanced, but in some scattered districts from 15 to 20 per cent. is still standing. The completed within a week if the good cutting of coarse grains is proceeding rapidly and all harvesting should be weather continues. Threshing is under way in most places with approximately 7,000 machines at work. A large number of combines and swathers have been used and reports indicate that they have worked satisfactorily. Frosts during the third week of August and a heavy frost on the 7th of September have caused considerable damage to all except the early crops, but on the whole the grade should be somewhat better than last year's crop, especially in view of the fact that the grain is dry and is grading straight. Reports from the Peace River state that threshing is well advanced. The crop in this district is somewhat lighter than last year, especially north of the Peace River. A number of points report that the yield of wheat is running from 30 to 40 bushels per acre. The average for the province, however, will likely be about 25 bushels per acre. The estimated acreage in wheat is 670,000 acres. This will bring the wheat crop of the present year practically up to last year's total.

PROSPERITY

Western Canada is rapidly becoming a dairy country. We are exporting same item and the next butter in ever increasing quantities. When the farmer generally take up cows and sell milk and cream the day of hard times will be ended.

A FAILING

A traveller is authority for the statement that Americans play better cards than the English. London bridge must be falling down.

If a man's a failure he blames it on the town. If he is a success he takes the credit for himself.

STRIVE FOR SERVICE

Once in a while somebody asks for something that we do not have in stock. We can't carry everything, you know. But just let one or two more of them ask for the same item and the next one will find it right here waiting for him. By asking, you let us know what you want, and it is our business to supply that want.

EXAMINATIONS

Sir Joseph Stamp, the economist, is strongly in favor of examinations, as a reflex action on character. "Any one who enters for examinations has to go through the mill; he has to have exactness of expression and be rid of sloppiness of thought. Sir Joseph is chairman of the directors of a great railway, and believes that examinations relieve employers from misleading personal judgments and that they are a great blessing to modest candidates.

A PUBLIC NECESSITY

Opinion by Justice Ricks of the Supreme Court of Illinois

The business of insurance is the outgrowth of time and the demands and necessities of the public. It extends into and covers almost every branch of business and all the relations of life, and is applied to all the hazards of business in life where a basis of risk and compensation can be estimated. In all the stages of life, from the cradle to the grave, it asserts an interest and offers succor and aid. In the business enterprises, whether by land or sea, in the possessions of men, from a pane of glass to the mansion or the factory, in his undertakings involving every chance, misfortune, moral turpitude or the act of God, it demands admission and promises indemnity, reward or gain. It poses as the faithful and zealous trustee of his earnings and savings and promises to the widow and orphan a guaranty against misery and want. It intercedes between principal and agent, master and servant, contractor and owner, and insures against loss from almost any and every cause. It is a public necessity that deals in its own credit for a cash consideration from the assured, and is stamped with public interest. The C. B. Shimp Land Co. handle all forms of insurance.

The new Home Grain elevator is almost completed and will soon be open for business.

Mrs. P. McIntyre has returned home and looking well after spending a few months at Oregon.

Quite a few of the new buildings and additions have been painted which puts on a clean and smart appearance to Ensign.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McIntyre are back home after their long trip to Toronto and visiting other parts and both feeling the benefit of the change.

Died, suddenly, Howard Lee Matlock, age 11 years and 3 months, Sept. 14th, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Matlock of Ensign. Much sympathy from the community and district is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Matlock and family at the sudden loss of their son, Howard.

In place of the building of a new two-room school opposite Spillers Mill, Calgary, to serve the 68 school children from Valleyfield, Bonnybrook and Harveta Heights sub divisions, an arrangement has been entered into by the Calgary School Board with the Calgary street railway to have children transported to the Colonel Walker and Ramsay school. The re-routing of street cars to accommodate the children will cost the Board about $1100 a year.

ARROWWOOD NEWS

T. A. Eisenbise of La Verne, California, is in the district looking after his farming interests.

Rev. Martin has moved to Arrowwood from Washington to take charge of the Brethren Church here.

The Arrowwood wheat crop escaped almost all the frost damage, as it was about 90 per cent cut when the freeze came.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Salter who have been residing in Newburg, Oregon the past few months have returned to their farm east of town.

Constable Volk, A.P.P., has been checking up on all reckless drivers in this district. One man was summoned recently and was fined $15.00 and costs when he came before Police Magistrate J. R. Shearer at Arrowwood.

The twenty-five combine threshers in this district are proving a success. In all cases the swather is being used in connection with the combine. Most of the users of the combines are having minor troubles operating them owing to the fact that the machines have not been on the market long enough to be as perfected as they will be another year. Some are threshing two thousand bushels of wheat per day with them. The big saving is made in the cost of threshing since two men can operate them.

The Arrowwood consolidated school has a larger attendance than any previous year. There are about 150 enrolled and the five school vans are crowded. J. R. Shearer continues as principal and E. B. Lyle as vice-principal. The primary school is taught by Miss Isabelle Mackie, while the intermediate room has Miss Greta McComb in charge. The board of trustees consists of L. F. Christenson, chairman, Mack W. Lyle, Walter Steiner, Quinter Hollenburg and Frank Armer. M. Murray is secretary-treasurer, assessor and collector.

What a pity those two hundred swimmers were not able to swim fifteen miles in cold water! It would be such a triumph for science and civilization, because it would show that men can swim fifteen miles in cold water.

KILLED BY TRUCK

Harvester from Vancouver Killed Monday when Truck Side-swiped Into Auto Near Blackie

W. A. Adams, harvester from Vancouver, employed on the farm of Mr. Robert Kennedy east of town, was fatally injured on Monday night in most tragic manner, and died in the High River hospital on Tuesday morning at 11 a.m. He was riding on the running board of Mr. John Turnbull's Ford coupe, when an approaching motor truck swept by the car, grazing it and whirling Adams from his position into the ditch.

Mr. Adams was in Blackie on Monday evening, and about ten o'clock approached Mr. Turnbull for a lift out to the Kennedy farm, a short distance west of Blackie. Mr. Turnbull explained that his coupe had three occupants, but said that Adams might ride on the running board if he cared to. Adams gladly accepted the chance. When about a mile west of Blackie, an approaching Ford truck loomed out. Mr. Turnbull pulled well out, giving ample space to pass but the truck ruthlessly tore down upon them, pressing Mr. Turnbull to the ditch, and side-swiped Adams from his hold, whirling him into the ditch. Mr. Turnbull stopped, righted his car to the road and backed up. While getting out of his car to rush to the rescue of the young man, he noticed that the Ford truck had stopped, the driver apparently curious to see what he had done. But before Mr. Turnbull could reach the scene, he saw the driver of the truck, after taking a glance at the terribly injured young man in the ditch, run rapidly back to the truck, mount it and rush off into the night.

Mr. Turnbull then carried Adams to the car, took him to Blackie Hospital, and later to the High River Hospital. Here he was found to be suffering from broken thigh bone, lacérations, and internal injuries.

The young man though a relative stranger had made a fine impression on his employer and all with whom he had come in contact. And the wanton and cowardly taking of his life by the unknown truck driver, has roused great indignation. Courtesy is rarely the distinguishing mark of the man in the truck and the public has yielded meekly to the autocratic truck spirit for entirely too long.

On Wednesday, Sept. 19, a coroner's inquest was called at High River to inquire into the death of W. A. Adams. Coroner Dr. Buswell presided, with Constable Holton, A.P.P., present. The jurors were, Foreman, Dr. Bedingfield, I. N. McKeage, George McElvaine, J. S. Hunt, V. C. Stanley, Fred Blake.

After hearing the evidence of Mr. Turnbull, Mrs. Turnbull and Mrs. McDonald, the three occupants of the Ford coupe, the following verdict was returned. That W. A. Adams came to his death as a result of injuries received while riding on the fender of John Turnbull's car, he being struck by an approaching motor truck driven by a person or persons unknown. That apparently John Turnbull had exercised reasonable caution and care to avoid accident.

ANGLICAN APPEAL

In connection with the Fortieth Anniversary of the Diocese of Calgary the Anglicans throughout the diocese are making strenuous efforts to interest all their members in the church as a whole and its activities in the diocese. It is the desire of the church to impress upon its members the growing need for expansion throughout the southern part of the province.

In commemoration of its fortieth anniversary, the Diocese of Calgary is preparing an intensive campaign during the week of Oct. 7 to 15th inclusive for the purpose of placing the diocese on a firm financial basis. It is the intention of the diocese to provide for the proper care of its clergy and their wives through part of the funds raised during this campaign and to use the remainder of these funds for the purpose of extending and widening the work of the church throughout the diocese.
